Japan Hiroshima

By Tsubame Kotsu

English

We are here to help you to love Hiroshima

Hiroshima has two world heritage sites, Itsukushima Shrine (Miyajima) which is one of Japan's three most scenic spots, and the Atomic Bomb Dome. Along with its history, Hiroshima has many hopes, prayers, and passions to contribute to "Building peace in the minds of men and women", as stated in the UNESCO Peace Charter.

After the Atomic bomb was dropped in the summer of 1945, it was reported that "No plants will grow in Hiroshima for next 75 years". However, the Kyochikutou (Oleander) bloomed soon after, and every summer it blooms and became symbol of revival from disaster. With citizen's enormous efforts and the warm support from many people around the world, the city has now been reconstructed and developed into a beautiful city that greenery stands out against flowing rivers.

We, Tsubame Kotsu, would like everyone to know Hiroshima's history and feel its beauty. Our business philosophy is "We try our best to help many people love Hiroshima and contribute to world peace". Please come and visit Hiroshima and we will be happy if you become to love it here, like we do.

Experience

For more than 70 years we have been providing superior service to customers. We have served English tours the most in Hiroshima and we have learned a lot about the diversity of the world. Our company has operated limousine & bus services for VIPs requested by Hiroshima City, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and embassies in various countries for their official events held in Hiroshima.

Customer Service

Tomonoura

This town flourished as a port of call for ships passing through the Seto Inland Sea during the Edo period. You can see the remains of the only existing port facility from the Edo period in Japan.

Kurashiki Bikan Area

This town flourished during the Edo period as a concentration point for rice and other commodities. The storehouses and merchant houses along the Kurashiki River are beautiful.

Naoshima

A small island with a circumference of 16 km has been developed as a center of contemporary art and tourism. Visitors can see the works of Tadao Ando, Yayoi Kusama, and other leading contemporary architects and artists.

Naruto

You can see the whirlpools, one of the world's three major tidal currents, up close here using the promenade on the bridge or a sightseeing boat.

Seto Bridge

The bridge is recognized by Guinness World Records as the world's longest bridge that combines a roadway and a railroad. You can enjoy a spectacular view of the Seto Inland Sea from the motorway.

Shimanami Kaido

It is one of the seven major cycling roads in the world. The cycling road is attached to a motorway, allowing visitors to enjoy the beauty of the many islands of the Seto Inland Sea.

Matsue

It is a former castle town centered on Matsuyama Castle and is associated with Shiki Masaoka, Yamatoka Taneda, and Soseki Natsume. It is famous for Dogo Hot Springs and modern Japanese literature.

Kobe

With its long east-west sea and mountains, its unique landscape, and coastal waters deep enough for large ships to anchor, the city has flourished as a hub port from the open sea to Japan.

Access from Hiroshima Airport to Various locations

Peace Memorial Park A-Bomb Dome

The park was built for the permanent peace of the world after the war. Various facilities and many cenotaphs were erected in the park, and the Atomic Bomb Dome is nearby.

Access by Car

From Hiroshima Station
15 min

Peace Memorial Museum

It opened in 1955 and was designated a National Important Cultural Property in 2006, and reopened at 2019. The museum exhibits artifacts left by atomic bomb survivors, photos of the town before and after the bombing, and current efforts to denuclearize the world.

Cenotaph for the Atomic Bomb Victims

The cenotaph was designed by architect Kenzo Tange. The lower sarcophagus contains the names of the victims by the atomic bomb, regardless of nationality.

Hiroshima National Peace Memorial Hall

Visitors can view photos of the A-bomb victims, video testimonies of their experiences, and books related to the atomic bombing. In the museum, visitors can see the changes in the carbonized strata at the time of the bombing in the soil from the medieval period to the present day.

Statue of the Children of the Atomic Bomb

The statue is based on Sadako Sasaki, who was exposed to the atomic bomb when she was 2 years old and 10 years later developed acute leukemia and died at the age of 12. A memorial to comfort the spirits of the children who died in the atomic bombing.

Atomic Bomb Dome

It is the former "Hiroshima Prefectural Industrial Promotion Hall" built in 1915. Although located near the hypocenter, the building was spared total destruction, and today the "Atomic Bomb Dome" is all that remains of the building as it was at the time of the bombing.

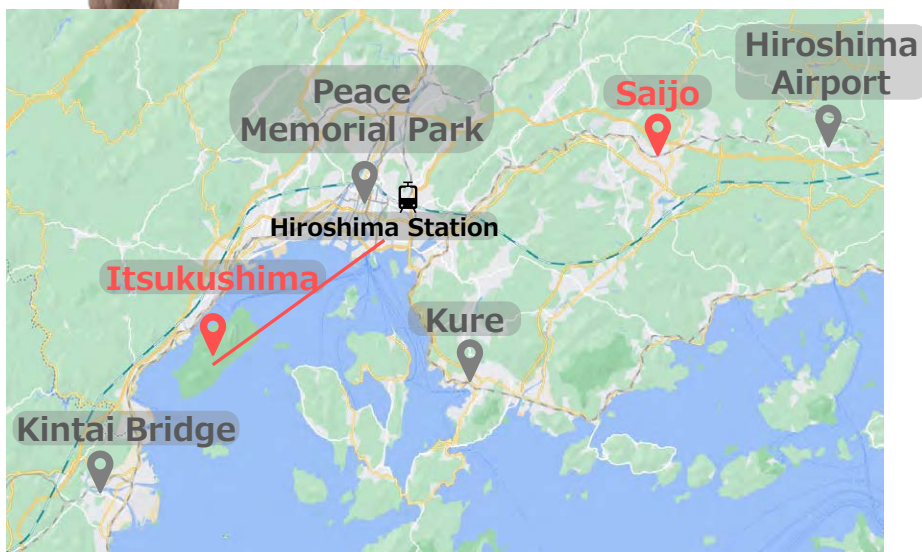

Itsukushima

The island has a circumference of 30 km and is home to shrines and Buddhist temples, including Itsukushima Shrine, built by Taira no Kiyomori in the 12th century. About 500 wild deer inhabit the island, which is a 10-minute boat ride away.

Access by Car

From Hiroshima Station
1 hour

Itsukushima Shrine

It is one of the three most scenic spots in Japan and was registered as a World Cultural Heritage in 1996. The shrine was built in 593 and was reconstructed in its present form by Taira no Kiyomori during the Heian period. It is also designated as a national treasure.

Oo-Torii Gate

With a height of 24.2 m and a total weight of approximately 60 tons, it is the largest wooden torii gate in Japan. It is designated as a National Important Cultural Property. At high tide you can see it floating on the sea, and you can go close to the torii at low tide.

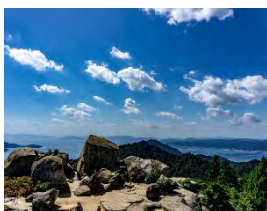

Senjokaku Goju-no-tou

Senjokaku is a Buddhist temple built by Toyotomi Hideyoshi in 1587. The name comes from the vast space that can hold 857 tatami mats. Goju-no-tou was completed in 1407, the so-called tomb. You cannot see the inside of the five-story pagoda at Miyajima, but it has a beautiful painting of the Pure Land of Paradise.

Daishouin Temple

It is the oldest Shingon Sect temple on Miyajima, said to have been opened by Kukai in 806. It is a temple of high prestige, visited by His Holiness the Dalai Lama in 2006, and also associated with the Imperial Family.

Mt. Misen

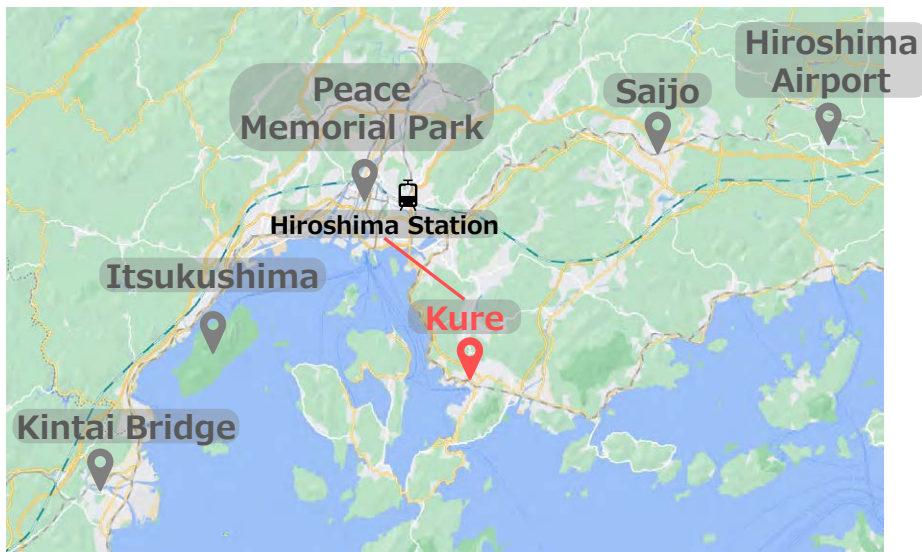

This sacred mountain rises 535 meters above sea level in the center of Miyajima. The legendary site where Kukai practiced asceticism and the primeval forest of Mt. Misen. The summit can be reached on foot or by a ropeway, and the many islands of the Seto Inland Sea can be viewed.

Kure

The city developed as a shipyard, building the battleship Yamato and the world's largest tanker. Even today, as a world-class shipbuilding town, the city is developing in many aspects, including technology, chemistry, and culture.

Access by Car

From Hiroshima Station
45 min

Yamato Museum

As the military port where the battleship Yamato was built, the history and its construction methods are on display.

Inside the museum, visitors can experience and feel science and technology with a focus on ships, including a Type Zero fighter plane and actual documents.

Ondo Bridge

A road bridge connecting Kure and Kurahashi Island. It is a red bridge in the image of the Otorii of Itsukushima Shrine. Large ships can be seen passing under the bridge.

Shipyard

This place is famous for the construction of the battleship Yamato. After the war, private companies have been building large civilian vessels. The view of shipbuilding in the vast land is breathtaking.

Maritime Self-Defense Force Battleship Tour

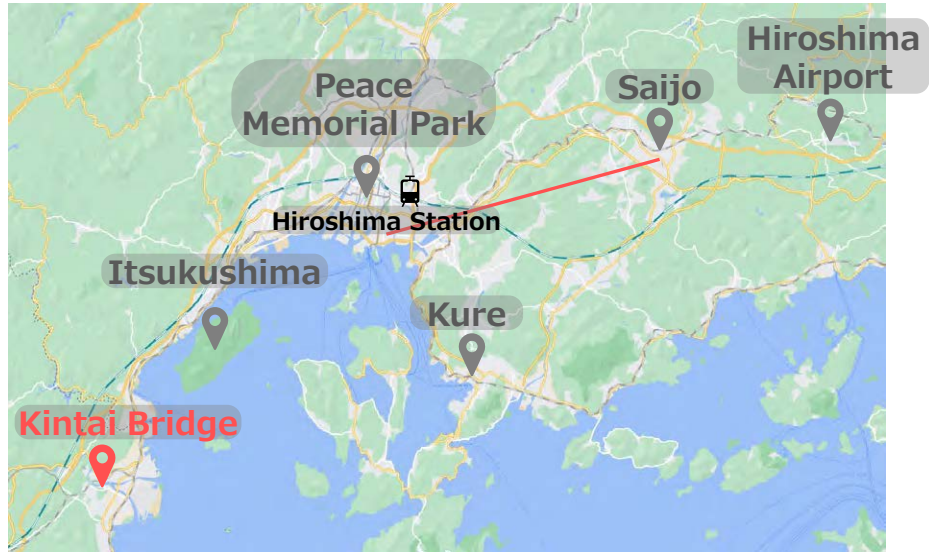

Active submarines and destroyers are docked and you can see them here. In addition, visitors can board a small boat for a viewing tour and see the vessels up close with explanations from Self-Defense Force personnel.

Kintai Bridge

The bridge was built in 1673 in Iwakuni City, Yamaguchi Prefecture. It is one of the three most famous bridges in Japan. Visitors can take a rowboat and enjoy the view from the river and take the ropeway up to Iwakuni Castle and enjoy the magnificent scenery.
